BULGARIA'S CLAIMS

Her Neighbors Are Unwilling to Give Such Territorial Compensation as She Demands for Participating in the War.

Rome, Sept. 3.—A revision of the treaty of Bucharest has been agreed to explicitly by Serbia, Roumania and Greece. The countries are not willing to satisfy Bulgaria's claim to territorial compensation for participating in the war.

Bulgaria's pretensions apparently are irreconcilable with what her neighbors are willing to grant, and the impression is gaining ground that she is prolonging the negotiations with the aim to postponing the day when she must reach a decision.

VON TIRPITZ MAY QUIT.

Likely to Be Succeeded by Admiral Von Pohl.

London, Sept. 3.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says it is reported that Admiral Von Tirpitz, the German minister of marine, will resign and will be succeeded by Admiral Von Pohl, now chief of the admiralty staff and commander of the German battle fleet.

Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz is regarded everywhere as the chief advocate of the submarine warfare on merchant shipping. In addition to being the head of the navy he is regarded as the head of that unyielding faction which has made a bitter fight against any modification of the orders to the submarine commanders. Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, has led the faction favoring conciliatory tactics toward the United States, and their joint conference with the German emperor at the eastern front recently undoubtedly was one of the most important incidents of the war. Recent press dispatches from Berlin have indicated conclusively that the chancellor won a victory for his policy.

BERLIN IS RETICENT

Engaging Negotiations Being Carried on With United States.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 3.—Official circles in Berlin treat negotiations now in progress with the United States as the submarine problem as highly confidential and this makes it most difficult to obtain any authoritative information or to transmit the views held in various quarters. The highest officials, nevertheless, admit that they regard the situation with optimism—an optimism based on a knowledge of the instructions which have been issued and the development here that will help facilitate the task of negotiation.

Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, it is understood, is in possession of fairly wide reaching authority to negotiate for a settlement of the submarine question and it is believed that the proposal which he is authorized to make may strike at the heart of the problem as affecting the United States. They provide for immunity from attack without warning for passenger steamers, which are to be destroyed only after they have been halted and full opportunity given to the passengers and crews to embark in the boats under conditions of safety. Submarine commanders will be advised of the expected arrival of liners on regular schedules. How far beyond this provision for the safety of the larger ships Count Von Bernstorff's instructions can, cannot be learned.

Newspaper reports reaching here to the effect that the solution of the submarine problem is coupled with a settlement of the negotiations with Great Britain are declared in initiated circles to be incorrect.

It is true that Count Von Bernstorff has been instructed to say that the settlement of the old blockade problem would enable Germany to drop the whole submarine warfare against commerce, but this suggestion is quite apart from the proposals indicated above, which are independent and unconditional.

One high government official, in commenting on the situation, declared on the danger to the United States itself in pressing its demands too far. He said: "There is no telling when the United States itself may want to use its submarines in a life and death struggle. It may perhaps be sorry if it has found its hands too tightly."

NO FURTHER MOVE
FOR PEACE BY U. S.

Until Country Is Assured That Its Good
Offices Will Be Welcomed By Both Sides of the War.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—The United States will make no further effort to bring about peace in Europe until its good offices will be welcomed by both sides, according to an authoritative statement here to-day. Such an attitude was shown in a discussion to-day of the messages from the pope which were delivered yesterday by Cardinal Gibbons.

NOT ON ITS KNEES.

Europe Strives to Correct Impression of Attitude to U. S.

London, Sept. 3.—Plans for correcting the abnormal exchange situation and putting on a stable basis the entire machinery of settling trade balances between America and Europe will be clarified within the next few days on the arrival in New York of the French and British financial commissions.

Both commissions have received their instructions and are now on their way. Meanwhile it is known that the commissions are in a position to correct some misapprehensions which are believed to exist in the United States concerning British, French and Russian dependence on America. One of the best informed authorities said yesterday: "The idea seems to prevail in New York that we are on our knees and begging America to come to our assistance. The situation is exactly the reverse. America wants to sell Europe its goods and if Americans hope to continue these sales, they must find a means of giving the usual credits and establishing exchange."

NO INDICTMENT
IN FRANK CASE

Grand Jury Reports That It Is Unable To Find Sufficient Evidence in the Lynching to Bring Charges.

Marietta, Ga., Sept. 3.—The Cobb county grand jury reported late yesterday that it had been unable to find enough evidence after a two days' examination of witnesses to indict anyone for the lynching of Leo M. Frank. The report stated:

"We have found several clues, but we have been unable to find anyone who could identify any party. We have done our best, under our oath, and we regret to state that we have been unable to find enough evidence to indict anyone for this crime."

After it is stated that the jury had the active co-operation of Governor Harris, the state attorney general, Solicitor Herbert Clay and other officials of Cobb county, the report adds:

"We find, from investigation, that the officers of the law and the citizens of our town and county know nothing of this crime until they heard of the body being found near Frey's gin in this county. The city of Marietta and the county of Cobb were quiet before this trouble, are quiet now, and all reports to the contrary are untrue."

Upwards of 25 witnesses were examined. They included the chief of police and other officers of Atlanta and persons in every walk of life in Marietta.

of Arrangements at the Service

THOUGH ACCUSED OF INCITING MURDER

Detail of Police Kept Back
the Crowd—Slain Man
Left $500,000

Providence, R. I., Sept. 3.—Although accused of having incited the murder of her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, one of the wealthiest physicians in this state, Mrs. Elizabeth T. B. Mohr was released on $100,000 bonds and had full charge of her husband's funeral to-day.

She had been separated from him for several months.

Rev. E. J. Bassett, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, read the Episcopal ritual in Dr. Mohr's house. Among those present at the service were Mrs. Mohr, her two children and Charles M. Mohr, a son by a divorced wife. A detail of police was called to keep back the crowd. Dr. Mohr is believed to have left an estate of $500,000.

Detectives today searched the brook into which one of the accused and confessed negroes said he threw the revolver with which he claimed he shot Dr. Mohr.

Mrs. Mohr broke down to-day for the first time since she was arrested. Amid tears she again declared her innocence and said that the stories told by the negroes were ridiculous. The first story told by the negroes about their plan to rob Dr. Mohr was the real motive for the shooting, she said.

After four years
Four Men Are Arrested on Charge of Wrecking Train.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 3.—Four men were arrested here yesterday on the charge of having removed fish plates on the rails of the valley division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, which act, it is alleged, brought about the wreck of a passenger train on Aug. 27, 1911, at Maroonas, resulting in the death of one passenger and injury to about 60 others. The men gave the names of Sebastiano Lacana, Nunzio Buchana, Piola Carbuano and Antonio Velle. All are between 35 and 38 years of age.

The arrests are the result of a long inquiry by the state police. Four men were arrested soon after the disaster and given a hearing at Middletown and freed, as the evidence was not conclusive. The names of the men arraigned at that time do not correspond with the names of the men arrested yesterday.

THEATRE SEASON OPENS

Under Management of New Lessees,
Messrs. Austin and Nelson.

Full of promise for the nascent theatrical season in Barre was the opening of the opera house last night under the management of Frank E. Austin and William A. Nelson, who succeed Fox & Eaton as lessees of the theatre. Adelaide French and her company in "The Law of the Land," a melodrama in four acts by George Broadhurst, was the curtain-raiser for the new lessees and a very fair-sized audience seemed to feel that the initial production offered by the management was portentous of many excellent attractions that are to follow. If one considers that the season is yet in its infancy and that the outdoor summer playtime of a good many people is not yet over, the reception accorded the local young men who have gone a-venturing in the theatrical business and the vehicle which they selected for their opening night may be described as warm and spontaneously friendly.

For their wise discrimination in selecting "The Law of the Land" as a introductory offering, along with a series of plays that promise to uphold the same high standard established last evening, Messrs. Nelson and Austin are to be congratulated. Mr. Austin assumes the duties of box office manager and the stage is in charge of Mr. Nelson. Few changes have been made in the staff of theatre attaches in the auditorium, gallery or back of the proscenium. The firm is assured of the benefits accruing to the ripe experience of Bruce's orchestra and the members of that well-known organization playing pleasingly on the opening night. All in all it was a signally successful "first night."

No more stirring or forceful drama than "The Law of the Land" has been seen on the local stage in some time. None of those emotional qualities which made Miss French a prime favorite in "Madame X," was lacking in her finished impersonation of Mrs. Harding in the Broadhurst cast. In some of the most intensely dramatic situations her acting was a revelation even to those who had been privileged to see her work in "Madame X." As a melodrama within the essential meaning of the term, "The Law of the Land" is something of a classic in latter-day pieces of the kind and to give it the presentation that it deserves, it was necessary that Miss French should be surrounded by a cast of better than average merit. Merit in that degree the company possesses. Costas Gwynne as Geoffrey Morton, Durwood Primrose as Robert Harding and Frank Sterling in the secretary's role all acted with fine regard for the exacting demands that the complicating issues of the piece made on them. On A. T. Chestwood as the butler devolved much of the task of injecting stray bits of humor into the dialogue. He was a study in several colors. Edwin Quinn as the boy, Bennie, endeared himself to the audience with a naive manner. He is a precocious youth withal. As for the remaining members of the cast, they saw to it that the principals lacked none of the finer elements of support that gave the presentation desired finesse. Minute details of stage investiture were not overlooked and the settings in the first and second acts were especially attractive.
